Harry Burns is a highly talented all-rounder recently representing New Zealand at the 2026 ICC U19 World Cup in Zimbabwe and Namibia.

A product of the Northern Districts (ND) pathway system, Harry has progressed through every age group, earning recognition from an early age. In 2025, he captained the ND U19 side to a runners-up finish at the National Championships and has also represented the ND A side.

At club level, Harry plays for powerhouse Mount Maunganui Cricket Club in the Bay of Plenty Cricket Association, one of New Zealand's strongest competitions. Remarkably, he has already taken over 100 First XI Premier wickets at just 18 years old, a testament to his ability to perform consistently at senior level from a young age.

His performances for both Northern Districts and Mount Maunganui earned him international selection, and he is now pushing for a professional contract with Northern Districts over the next 12–24 months.

A genuine three-dimensional cricketer, Harry bowls with serious pace, can swing the new ball, and is equally effective through the middle overs. With the bat, he is comfortable in the middle order and has multiple First XI milestones to his name. His athleticism in the field is another standout feature, widely regarded as one of the best fielders on the circuit.

Holding a British passport, Harry is also a keen coach with a passion for mentoring young cricketers. His combination of talent, professionalism, and eligibility makes him a highly attractive option for clubs.

Touted as a player with the potential to reach the very top of New Zealand cricket, Burns is undoubtedly one to watch over the coming years.
