Harry Wilkes (18), a batting all rounder from Cheshire, England.

The batting all-rounder from Cheshire who has established himself as a key player for Irby Cricket Club in the Cheshire County League. Having progressed through the club's junior system, Harry broke into the senior sides and quickly became a pivotal figure at the top of the order for the First XI, all within the span of just four years.

In recent seasons, Harry's determination earned him selections for local league and district representative sides, further fuelling his passion and love for the game. His performances have highlighted his technical ability and temperament, making him a player to watch as he continues to develop.

Off the pitch, Harry's commitment to cricket shines through his dedication to developing the next generation. He runs the club's All-Star Programme, introducing 5-8 year-olds to cricket, and also assists with multiple junior age groups. His enthusiasm for coaching and mentoring is something he's eager to bring to his new club.

Harry is now ready to take the next step in his cricketing journey, seeking to enhance his game and gain life-changing experiences with a season down under. With his skills, commitment, and willingness to immerse himself in club life both on and off the field, Harry would be a fantastic addition to any team.
