Izaac Birkedale, a promising seam-bowling all-rounder from Adelaide, South Australia.

Birkedale is a product of Adelaide High School, one of South Australia's well-known sporting institutions, where he was a standout performer, particularly with the ball in hand, marking himself as one of the state's emerging young prospects during his school years.

At club level, the young Australian currently hones his craft for the prestigious Adelaide Cricket Club in the South Australian Cricket Association (SACA) Premier Competition, featuring in both 3rd and 4th Grade sides as he continues to develop his all-round game.

Alongside his playing ability, Birkedale is a qualified cricket coach and is eager to fully immerse himself into club life abroad, with ambitions to make a meaningful impact within a club's junior coaching structure, mentoring and inspiring the next generation of cricketers.

A British passport holder, Izaac offers additional value for clubs managing overseas player eligibility and also has access to accommodation in both London and Stafford—making him a strong option for clubs seeking a high-quality, self-sufficient overseas player without the pressure of providing housing.
