Noor Ali Zadran is a legend of Afghanistan cricket, who helped guide his country from the lower reaches of the World Cricket League to ODI status.

He spent over a decade with the national side, following his debut against Saudi Arabia in the 2006 Middle East Cup. A high-class batter, Zadran was an influential figure in Afghanistan's rapid rise from WCL Division 5 to Division 2 (2008-09) and the Super Eights of the 2009 ICC World Cup Qualifiers.

Afghanistan gained ODI status, and Zadran would go on to hit 45 on debut against Scotland in April 2009. The following year, he played in the 2010 ICC World T20, before making a century (114) against Canada in the Intercontinental Cup.

Over the course of his international career, Zadran played 2 Tests, 51 ODIs and 23 T20Is for his country, with averages of 29.25, 24.81, and 27.13, respectively. His two Tests for Afghanistan came late in his career, against Sri Lanka (February 2024) and Ireland (March 2024), with notable scores of 31 and 47 (v Sri Lanka), and 32 (v Ireland).

Since retiring from international cricket in March 2024, Zadran has continued playing at franchise level, featuring for Texas Chargers in the United States. A fantastic performer with a wealth of experience across formats, he remains eager to take on further franchise opportunities around the globe.
