He spent the majority of last season playing for the Second XI before earning his First XI debut in a high-scoring encounter that saw nearly 800 runs scored across the day, during which he claimed two wickets.

Looking ahead to the 2026 season, Will has strong ambitions to push for a regular place in the First XI squad and is eager to play a key role for the Second XI with both bat and ball.

Driven by a desire to continually improve and develop his game, the Yorkshireman is seeking a season in the Southern Hemisphere, where he aims to further his cricketing development while experiencing life and cricket overseas.

In addition to his playing commitments, Will holds an ECB Core Coach (Level Two) qualification and is keen to assist wherever possible within a club's coaching structure.

With his all-round ability, strong work ethic, and coaching credentials, Will would be a valuable addition to any side looking to strengthen their squad ahead of the 2026/27 season.
