Bailey Goodlad is a hard-working bowling all-rounder and one of the most accomplished young products of West Yorkshire club cricket. At just 19, he offers the valuable combination of a genuine new-ball wicket-taking threat and a dependable top-order left-handed batter. Having already completed a full Australian season, he would arrive match-ready and well adapted to local conditions.

With the bat, Bailey has established himself in the top order, where his temperament, technique and adaptability are best utilised. He is capable of anchoring an innings, rebuilding after early wickets and accelerating when the game demands, making him a reliable and versatile presence at the crease.

With the ball, Bailey is a skilful seamer who takes the new ball and consistently challenges opposition batters. His ability to swing the ball, maintain disciplined lines and make early breakthroughs makes him an effective option in all conditions.

Bailey's development has followed an exceptional pathway. A three-time Morley CC Junior Player of the Year (2019, 2021 and 2023), he progressed through the club's junior ranks as one of its standout talents while also representing the Heavy Woollen District, West Yorkshire and the YCB East & Central Region.

He made his senior debut for Morley CC at just 13 years of age and has continued to develop through every level of the game. In 2023, Bailey earned a place at the prestigious Yorkshire Cricket College at Headingley, where two years of elite coaching, world-class facilities and a strong emphasis on strength and conditioning have further refined his skills. During his time at the college, he completed an NCFE Level 3 qualification in Sport and was invited to bowl against the Yorkshire Women's team, reflecting the high regard in which his abilities are held.

Last winter, Bailey gained valuable overseas experience with Pascoe Vale Cricket Club in Melbourne's VTCA competition. He claimed 18 wickets at an average of 23 while also contributing important runs in the middle and lower order, adapting quickly to Australian conditions and proving himself in a competitive environment.

Now looking to return to Australia, Bailey brings a strong work ethic, proven overseas experience, and the versatility to make an immediate impact as a genuine batting all-rounder. At only 19, he has already built an impressive cricketing résumé while retaining significant potential for further development, making him an exciting prospect for clubs seeking both immediate performance and long-term value.
