Haider Hussain is fast emerging as one of England's brightest young cricketing talents – a leg-spinner with rare skill and the temperament to thrive on the big stage. Born and raised in Bolton, he's a right-arm leg-spinner and useful middle-order batter who has already made his mark at elite youth levels, representing England Under-19s, the England Young Lions, and Lancashire Second XI, where his consistency and flair have set him apart.

Haider's ability to dominate tournaments is a hallmark of his career so far. He was the leading wicket-taker in the England Under-19 Tri-Series, and previously topped the charts at the Bunbury Festival, the Super 4s, and with the England Young Lions. In his two Under-19 ODIs for England he claimed 5 wickets at a superb average of 9.60, with best figures of 4/41 – numbers that show just how effective his leg-spin can be against high-quality opposition.

He remains a regular fixture for Lancashire Second XI, featuring across both the Second Eleven Championship and Second Eleven Twenty20 competitions, and continued to be part of the setup through the 2026 season, building on the experience he's picked up since first coming through back in 2023.

What makes Haider stand out is not just his control and variation with the ball, but also his ability to influence games under pressure – a trait that hints at a long international future. With his unique talent and proven record at youth and second XI level, he is widely regarded as a player destined to rise through the professional ranks and become a global superstar of the modern game.
