Imran Butt is an exceptional opening batter who represented Pakistan in 6 Test matches in 2021. Whilst he struck a best of 91 against Zimbabwe, in his 10 innings he averaged 17.80 and was subsequently dropped for the talented youngster, Abdullah Shafique.

The free-flowing opener was quite rightly rewarded with Test selection following several heavy run-filled domestic seasons. In 2019/20 he chalked up 934 runs at 62.26 with a double century (214) in the Quaid-e-Azam Trophy (first-class), then followed up with 682 runs at 42.62 (2021/22), and 605 runs at 43.21 (2022/23) over the next two campaigns. His form in List A cricket followed suit with 498 runs at 49.80 and 426 runs at 38.72, respectively. Courtesy of his recent exploits, Butt was named skipper of the Pakistan Shaheens for their Zimbabwean tour in May 2023.

Unsurprisingly, Butt has also churned runs aplenty abroad. Since his maiden UK season (2016) he has rattled up almost 4,000 runs during his 5 stints (Little Hulton, Donemana, Farnworth Social Circle, and Cavaliers and Carrington). However, it was his exploits last season for the latter that really stood out, hitting 1,093 runs at 68.31 in the top tier of the Nottinghamshire Premier League. He also weighed in with 12 wickets, taking his 5-year UK tally to neigh on 100 poles bowling both seam up (wobblers) and off-spin.

Butt is, without a doubt, one of the best pros on the market. He had signed with Doncaster Town for 2023 but due to being named Pakistan Shaheen's skipper his contract was terminated.

The Pakistani run machine is now eager to secure a UK gig in 2024 where he hopes he'll be available for the entire season.
