Isaac Hewetson is an attacking top and middle-order batter whose proactive approach and ability to pick length early make him a constant threat to opposition bowlers.

Combining technical quality with positive intent, he excels at putting bowlers under pressure and accelerating the scoring rate without compromising consistency.

Isaac's cricketing journey began within the Worcestershire County Age Group system, where he developed his game against high-level competition before progressing to represent Herefordshire Under-18s. These experiences helped shape a player capable of performing in both representative and senior club cricket environments.

Now entering his third season as First XI Captain of Manchester Metropolitan University, Isaac has established himself as a respected leader both on and off the field. His leadership qualities are matched by his performances with the bat, having averaged 50 in university cricket last season while consistently leading from the front.

At club level, Isaac enjoyed an outstanding campaign in the Worcestershire League, averaging 45 and scoring three centuries. One of those hundreds came against Bromsgrove, who were challenging at the top end of the Premier Division. His impressive performance caught the attention of the club and ultimately led to him signing for Bromsgrove ahead of the upcoming season.

Among his standout performances, Isaac's finest innings to date remains a superb unbeaten 107 from just 75 balls in the Worcestershire Premier League. The innings showcased his ability to combine controlled aggression with high-quality stroke play, underlining his potential to dominate attacks at a good level.

In the field, Isaac brings energy, intensity, and athleticism. Equally comfortable at slip, short extra cover, or extra cover, he is a live wire in key catching and pressure positions, contributing significantly to his team's fielding standards.

A run-scorer and developing leader, Isaac combines representative cricket experience, strong club performances, and strong leadership credentials. His attacking style, consistency, and competitive mindset make him a player capable of influencing games at both university and senior club level.

Isaac is now set to head overseas after signing with Merbein CC.
