Jack Gardner is a dynamic Australian fast bowler making his mark internationally by representing Papua New Guinea. Thanks to his heritage, Gardner has been part of the PNG setup since March 2023, featuring in six T20 internationals and several other key matches against teams like Vanuatu, Philippines, Oman, Nepal, Malaysia, and Namibia.

Under the expert coaching of former Zimbabwean captain Tatenda Taibu, Gardner has quickly emerged as PNG's leading bowler, highlighted by a standout performance of 2-27 against Malaysia in March 2024. This summer, he has been showcasing his all-around skills in New South Wales' South West Slopes competition, turning heads for league leaders Coolac. Notably, he's already delivered a remarkable bowling spell of 9 wickets for just 2 runs, alongside a solid batting display of 42 runs off 58 balls.

Before moving to country NSW, Gardner cut his teeth in Brisbane's Grade Cricket, playing for Sandgate-Redcliffe. During the 2023/24 season, he competed in the top two grades, including five matches in the premier grade alongside state-level teammates such as Mitch Swepson, Jake Winter, Ben Cooper, and Blake Macdonald. Across those grades, he picked up 15 wickets at a tidy average of 26.53.

A highly driven cricketer with big ambitions, Gardner is eager to develop further and is actively seeking opportunities in the UK to continue his growth. With his pace, skill, and competitive spirit, he comes highly recommended as a player to watch.
