Jayden Barson, a talented top order batter from Berkshire, England.

Kown for his fluent stroke play and ability to score freely around the wicket, the right-handed batter, Barson currently plays for Wokingham Cricket Club in the Home Counties Premier League, where he has already amassed 25 First XI appearances and four half-centuries. A testament to his consistency and maturity at a young age.

Having progressed through the Berkshire County Cricket Club pathway system, Jayden has gone on to represent the Berkshire CCC First XI, impressing across multiple formats. His 2024 season was particularly strong, scoring over 1,000 runs at an average of 32, including several notable performances for the county's Second and First XI sides.

Unfortunately, a recent injury has ruled Jayden out of the 2025 English season, but with full recovery underway, he is expected to return to training from July onwards. He remains fully committed to returning fitter and stronger, with his sights firmly set on a successful stint Down Under in the 2025/26 season.

With a hunger to develop further, adapt to overseas conditions, and immerse himself in a new club environment, Jayden is a highly attractive prospect for any Australian club looking for a composed, technically sound top-order batter with county-level pedigree.
