Mayank Sidhu is a batter-wicket keeper currently competing in Ranji Trophy cricket in India. A disciplined and driven cricketer, he has been a consistent presence for Chandigarh in India's domestic circuit, particularly in red-ball cricket, where his reliability as a wicket-keeper batter has stood out.

Mayank has contributed valuable runs in pressure situations while maintaining high standards behind the stumps, accounting for nearly 40 dismissals in First-Class cricket. Known for his composure, discipline, and work ethic, he has delivered steady performances across multiple domestic seasons, reinforcing his reputation as a dependable red-ball cricketer and a valuable team player.

A committed, team-first professional, Mayank works relentlessly on his game and embraces responsibility within the group. In 14 First-Class matches, he has accumulated 450 runs, including two half-centuries—an impressive return at one of the strongest domestic cricket levels in the world.

Mayank is now seeking an opportunity to play club cricket in the UK, where he aims to continue developing his all-round game while taking on the responsibilities that come with being a club professional. A keen coach and proven wicket-keeper batter, he would be an excellent addition for any club seeking quality, consistency, and professionalism for the coming summer.
