She played her first HBJ Shield game against the Northern Spirit at Whangarei in February 2020, aged 16, and made her T20 debut against the Canterbury Magicians at Christchurch in November 2021.

Tash represented New Zealand at the inaugural Under-19 Women's T20 World Cup in South Africa in January 2023, where the side reached the semi-finals. Across seven matches at that tournament she took 6 wickets at an average of 20.66 and an economy of 5.39, with best figures of 3/6, while also contributing 10 runs with the bat.

At domestic level, Codyre has built a solid List A record for Wellington, taking 35 wickets from 43 matches at an average of 33.22 and an economy of 4.88, headlined by career-best figures of 4/28 against Northern Districts in November 2025. She has also played 26 Super Smash T20 matches for the Blaze, contributing with both bat and ball as the side has completed a hat-trick of national titles — Wellington Blaze have won three consecutive Super Smash T20 championships (2023/24, 2024/25 and 2025/26), making them the most successful team in the competition's history with nine titles overall. With the bat, she has scored 111 List A runs at 5.84 (HS 24) and 28 T20 runs at 7.00 (HS 12), operating primarily in the lower order behind the bat-first specialists in a stacked Blaze top order.

Recognised for her strong work ethic, athleticism, and ability to perform under pressure, Codyre brings teamwork, discipline, and professionalism to high-performance sporting environments. Across all representative cricket to date, she has taken 42 wickets in 76 matches spanning List A, T20 and age-group international cricket — a solid, still-developing body of work for a youngster with time on her side to add significantly more.
