Noah Priestley (20) is a hugely talented seam bowling all-rounder from Yorkshire, England. Priestley is a front-line right-arm seamer, and a hard-hitting left-handed middle-order batsman.

The all-rounder was part of the Yorkshire CCC Academy setup, having played age-group cricket for the county from an early age. Two seasons ago he excelled for the Yorkshire 18s side with both bat and ball, due to his strong performances for the 18s and in training, he was rewarded with his debut for the Yorkshire CCC 2nd XI side against Lancashire CCC 2nd XI.

Noah currently plays club cricket for Todmorden Cricket Club, in the famous Lancashire League. The youngster is a keen and qualified coach and someone eager to play cricket professionally moving forward. In one day & T20 cricket, he is often used as a pinch hitter because of his explosive power with the bat.

The Englishman spent the 2022/23 season in Melbourne playing for Buckley Ridges Cricket Club in the strong Dandenong & District Cricket Association, where he played a combination of 1st and 2nd grade cricket (due to player points). The all-rounder still impressed with over 300 runs and 18 wickets at 19.

The all-rounder is now open to opportunities in Australia & New Zealand for the coming season. If situated in Melbourne, he potentially has his own accommodation sorted in Cranbourne.
