Rizwan Ali, a young wicket-keeper batter making his way in Pakistans Domestic game.

Rizwan has represented both Islamabad and Oil & Gas Development Company Limited across First-Class and List A formats, showcasing his skills at the highest level of Pakistan’s domestic circuit.

He made his First-Class debut at just 19 years old, following standout performances for Pakistan U19. After a six-year break from domestic cricket, Rizwan fought his way back into the game and is now a regular fixture for both Islamabad and Oil & Gas Development Company.

With a First-Class career-best of 135, Rizwan combines solid batting ability with sharp glovework and a growing reputation as a match-winner. Behind the stumps, he brings energy, reliability, and leadership, while with the bat, he can both anchor an innings and accelerate when required.

For 2026, Rizwan is eager to test himself in the UK, offering clubs a high-quality option across all three disciplines – batting, keeping, and fielding – along with invaluable professional experience from Pakistan’s elite competitions.

Rizwan also benefits from having access to accomodation in London, Manchester and Cornwall.
