Rizwan Mehmood is a gifted young cricketer with a bright future and international ambitions firmly within reach. A stylish top-order batter, he has already achieved plenty in his short career, and at just 21 years of age, he's seen as one of Pakistan's most promising talents.

Currently representing Hyderabad Region in first-class cricket, Rizwan made headlines with a sensational unbeaten 136 from just 116 balls in a List A fixture for SNGPL. His innings came against a seasoned WPDA attack featuring Pakistan internationals Iftikhar Ahmed and Khushdil Shah—further highlighting his ability to perform at a high level under pressure. This breakthrough performance confirmed what many within Pakistan's cricket circles have long believed: Rizwan is a future international in the making.

Having already donned national colours at the U16 and U19 levels, Rizwan is now charting a steady course through the early stages of his professional career. In addition to his batting prowess, he is also a handy leg-spinner, capable of contributing as a genuine bowling option in club cricket.

With natural flair, composure at the crease, and all-round ability, Rizwan offers a complete package for any club seeking a rising star with match-winning potential.
