Shoma Slater is a right-arm seam bowler currently leading the line for the Japan national cricket team.

The Western Australian qualifies to represent Japan at international level and has featured in 10 T20 Internationals over the past 12 months, gaining valuable experience on the global stage and narrowly missing out on selection for the 2026 ICC T20 World Cup.

At club level, he represents Melville Cricket Club in Western Australia Premier Cricket, where he has established himself as a key figure with the ball for the Club's First XI across the past two seasons.

Still in his teens, Slater is a highly promising talent with ambitions to continue progressing at international level. He comes highly recommended by CricX athletes and coaches alike, recognised for his skill, consistency, and impact with the ball.

Shoma prides himself on his professionalism, adaptability, and all-round cricketing ability. A disciplined and effective seamer, he offers a well-rounded skill set suited to all formats of the game.

With a big 12-24 months ahead, Shoma is determined to continue leading Japan's pace attack and make a strong impact in upcoming qualification campaigns for the 2028 ICC T20 World Cup. Alongside his international ambitions, he is also targeting opportunities within the Western Australia Second XI setup, with the long-term goal of securing a rookie contract.

Now eager to test himself in new conditions, Shoma is targeting a move to the UK for the upcoming season, where he is expected to be a valuable addition for any club looking to strengthen their seam attack.

A young international cricketer with significant upside, Shoma Slater would be an excellent addition to any bowling unit ahead of the 2026 season.
